Seventeen commissioners appointed by Gov. Brumbangh to take the vote of the 10,000 Pennsylvania National Guardsmen on the Mexican border November? yesterday took the Geth of office and prepared to leave for Teras. One commissioner is assigned to each of the seventeen commands in the field. The vote will be taken under laws enacted prior to the presidential election of 1884, when tens of thousands of Fennsylvania soldiers were in the field.

No provision has been made by the state for wiring the returns from the border and official results will not be known until the returns are received by mail or brought home by commissioners. Contests in several congressional districts are expected to be close and the exact standing of Pennsylvania's delegation in Congress may not be definitely known until after the soldier vote is received.

Though a fleet of six oyster-running craft arrived at the 11th street wharf Monday afternoon with oysters from the lower floor about 1,500 businels, they had aboard were sold out early yesterday dealth of the lower river to load back to this city. One oyster boat, the Josephine Smith, arrived yesterday morning, and by night the greater part of her cargo had been sold.

The schooners Hallie K. Majestic and others will arrive today, so that the Thursday market, which is always heavy, will be fairly well supplied. The coming of cool, frosty weather has made weeks has been unusually brisk, vessels arrived being able to sell out and leave the next.

JAMES M. CATHCART, President of Democratic Club of

Georgetown University. Woodrow Wilson for President is he choice of a majority of students at Georgetown University Law School. In straw vote taken at the school early this week the President received 335 rotes to 231 votes for Mr. Hughes. The voting was the result of claims of the rival political clubs that the majority of students were for their cause. In order to decide the question, James M. Cathcart of Tampa, Fla., secretary to Senator Fletcher, president of the Wilson-Marshall Club, and James M. Dervin of Philadelphia, president of the Hughes Republican Club, asked the faculty to allow them to take a straw
